"This obligation is recognized by the act of May 20, 1965, and by section 8 of the Panama Canal bill, now pending before the Congress. SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 8.-[Ex-clusive Dispatch.] Landing in San Francisco exactly at 9:25 tonight. James Croffroth, the San Francisco fight promoter, not only won his bet made at the same time, but estab-lished a record for travel from Lon-don to San Francisco.

Croffron had two hours and thir-Croffron had two hours and thir-don to San Francisco.

Croffroth had two hours and thirty-five minutes to spare when the ferry-boat touched its slip on the San Francisco side, and he peered up at the Ferry building clock.
When it was announced in the morning that the Overland had passet Reno exactly on time. Croffrota's friends figured that the balance of the journey would be easy sliding. But they had reckoned without their host. Word was telegraphed from Port Costa that the immense ferry Solano, that takes the railroad trains acrow the Straits of Carquines, was partially disabled and would not be able to make the trip after dark. With the Overland several hours late, it was almost certain the train would be stalled at Suisun and orders were flashed over the wires from the railroad offices for the train to be dispatched by way of Stockton Extra speed was demanded and the train arrived only two hours behind.

Hotel Del Coronado is filled with a greater number of winter guests than ever before, and as nearly all are tennis enthusiasts, the number of spectators is expected to be unusually large.

Many visitors are here from Los Angeles. Riverside, Pasadena and Santa Barbara for the express purpose of witnessing the tennis matches. Friends of May Sutton count on her usual skill, and unless she falls down completely through some unforeseen cause, they say Miss Hotchkiss has no show to wrest the championship laurels from the Pasadena girl.

Enunda Detra a 17-year-old white boy who was employed on a ranch at Newhall, was brought to the County Hospital last night, horribly mutilated by a dynamite blast.

The boy was blowing up stumps in a field on the ranch when a premature explosion of a blast hurled a large place of stump against him, the concussion from the blast lifting him off his feet and throwing him several yards from where he was standing. One of his hands was so badly mangied that it had to be amputated, his left side was torn open, and he also suffered several ugly cuts about the bead, face and body.

The accident happened at 11 o'clock yesterday forenoon, but it was late at hight before the mutilated lad reached the hospital and received sursical attention.

candles were set in place, and sliken garments were brought forth to do honor to the New Year.

Of a sudden a report spread through Chinatown yesterday with that rapidity with which such things are circulated among the Chinese—that the police department had placed a ban upon firecrackers in connection with the celebration. Leading members of the colony hastened to the Police Station to learn if this were true and when they were told they would not be interfered with the men hastened back to the quarter and there was joy again in Chinatown, the preparations for the celebration being continued with renewed enthusiasm.

TENTURA MAYOR HAS RESIGNED.

LONG ILLNES FORCES HIM TO TAKE THE STEP.

Murder Trial Begins—Much Interest in Prosecution of Man Who Was Fugitive for Four Years—Widew Contests the Will of the Late Wil-liam Ballard.

VENTURA, Feb. 8.—Mayor Lewis, because of illness, has resigned his position as a member of e.e Board of City Trustees. The board received the resignation last night. In a set of resolutions the board expressed its profound regret at the enforced retirement of its head. No movement has been made to name his successor. The board will also shortly have to fill another vacancy, as Trustee DeArman is expected to hand in his resignation soon, to take effect the first of March because of his removal to Pomona.

MURDER CASE.

A great deal of interest is being taken in the Manuel Fabella case, which began here this morning before Superior Judge Clarke in the Superior Court. Fabella is charged with the murder of Nightwatch McNaughton in Court. Fabella is charged with the murder of Nightwatch McNaughton in Oxnard four years ago. He has but just been apprehended and trought that been apprehended and trought back from El Paso recently. He fied to Mexico immediately after the coamission of the crime and the officials, though they have been after him ever since, were unable until now to catch him on this side of the line.

McNaughton was supposed to have been murdered by a gang in the Tenderloin district or Oxnaro after he had surprised them in the looting of a poortoom. The only one of the crowd apprehended was D. Quintana, and he was twice tried, but on each occasion the jury disagreed. The evidence was so hot in the Quintana case that his only salvation was in turning the biame on Fabella, who could not be apprehended.

Among the witnesses for the people will be J. C. Franco of El Paso, a Depy uty Sheriff, and Warden Reilly of Folsom prison, who was Under Sheriff here at the time of the murder and who induced the Governor to offer a reward for the apprehension of the latter.

Los Angeles Man Who Went Through Texas Interno Relates Incidents That Portray Vividly the Iniquity of Inhuman System.

Lew M. Johnson, a Los Angeles across the backs in sport and laugh painter, at present working at No. 721 South Main street, was the victim of the brutality of plantation bosses and officers in the Burleson county workhouse. Texas, and was long held in peonage. Hi health was seriously affected by the rigors of his confinement and he tells a story of startling cruelty that rivals the tales of Siberlan prison horrors. He will probably be a government witness at the forthcoming trial of Robert Newsom, the superintendent of the plantation where he worked, and Holland McLeod, the Brutal guard of the workhouse, whose indictment was reverted in The Transport of Startley and Standay. I walked to a town called Wellborn, if I remember rightly. I finally reached Los Angeles, where some of my relatives live." workhouse, whose indictment was reported in The Times last Sunday. These two, together with a justice of the peace and a constable, will be tried in the United States District Court at Austin, Tex., on June 1.

Court at Austin, Tex., on June 1.

Johnson is an educated man, 22 years of age, and he apparently would make a far better witness than many of the negroes who were held in slavery by the indicted men, according to a mass of overwhelming testimony.
"I read an account in The Times of some of the industries of the Burleson county peomage system," said Johnson yesterday afternoon," and I know that the dispatches fall short of the truth. I am unable to adequately narrate the indignifies, the awful vusanitary condition of our sleeping apartment, and the stench of the food served us. I have read descriptions of Russlan prisons, and have heard my father describe the military prisons during the Civil War. Nothing that one can imagine equals the reality of the workhouse life where I passed sixty days, though an innocent person."

FALLS INTO PEONAGE.

FALLS INTO PEONAGE.

Johnson had been working at his trade in Houston and started for Caldwell, county seat of Burleson. With him was a sign-painter, whose name Johnson can only remember as "Bud." Johnson said he paid the trainmen for allowing the two to ride on the freight. He said he had money with him and never intended to "beat" his way.

"I used to be a brakeman back in my home State of Illinois," said Johnson. "There is a kind of freemasonry among all railroad men. I told the crew that it would help us a lot if we could ride with them.

"When we reached Caldwell I went up town to see if there was some work there. My plan was to work in different cities until I got back to Los Angeles. I knew I would never get the price o. a ticket all the way.

"I found a man who offered me employment, and started back to see how "Bud was getting along. When I reached the station, I found the poor fellow in the cituthes of two constables. They at once arrested me.

"We were taken before a justice of the peace, and after a farce of a trial were sentenced to serve two months in the county workhouse. I was not

FOOD POOR, DIRT ABOUNDS.

Johnson said the food was poer in quality. Corn bread, sait pork, and occasionally potatoes, made up the bill of fare. The eating table was hardly ever cleaned and the remains of the meal would be thrown on the floor.

When not at work, the prisoners wallowed in lith, said Johnson.

GUESS WHAT NEW CENSUS

Estimates on Federal Count of Los Angeles.

Many Guesses by Many Men of Many Minds.

Women, Too, Give Ideas or the Population.

Mast will be the official population mark?

As announced in The Times last Sunday, preparations are now under way for taking the United States census in Los Angeles next April.

There is a wide divergence of opinion as to what the count, will be. Will the total population of the city go above the 350,000 mark? If so, how far?
What will the figures be?

The State school census gave us about 310,000 people and the directory census $20,000. The Federal census, however, is taken with greater restrictions and with less liability of duplication or error.

Now what do you think it will do to us? How big a city will it prove Los Angeles to be?

Many nen and women have given their guesses to The Times and the fluctuations of the estimates are most interesting. Let us see who will prove to have been nearest right when the cofficial result is amnounced.

Here are some of the guesses. Here is the Census Marshal's guess; here is the Mayor's guess; here are the guesses of judges, lawyers, real estate men, club women, clergyman—of our neighbors in all walks of life:

Postmaster Fint, 300,000.

Assistant Postmaster Harrison, 220,-

Postmaster Flint, 300,000.

Overtime Necessary to Give Comfort to Patients.

Humanity and humane principles yesterday triumphed over labor unionites, who for months have sought to tent their spite against Carl Leonardt, contractor on the new County Hospital buildings.

The unionites sought to twist the eight-hour-a-day law into a weapon to swing on the contractor and set in the attention as to why the work done was in a case of emergency.

The totemite lawyer sought to beg the point by declaring that the case would be carried into the courts, any-way, and that the contractor might as well do it as anyone else.

This Fact - that in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman —a woman whose ex-perience with women's diseases covers twenty-five years. The present Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E.

Pinkham, was for years under her direction, and has ever since her decease continued to advise women.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty causes them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. Such questioning and examination is unnecessary. Without cost you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

MRS. PINKHAM'S STANDING INVITATION:

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established this confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Never has she published a testimonial or used a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the hundreds of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience which Mrs. Pinkham has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge needed in your case. She asks nothing in return except your good will, and her advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. The few benighted persons who, upon a time, had acquired the extremely comical habit of abbreviating the name of Los Angeles to "Los," have been frequently made the butt of satire and ridicule in these devoted columns wherein the name of the pueblo has ever stood as something sacred—a name to be loved as a man loves the name of his sweetheart, and to be reverenced as one would reverence the inscription that marks a shrine.

crence the inscription that marks a shrine.

But the practice has now spread so widely that it has positively become a habit; wherefore it is no longer a joke. The practice is so general and so common now as to make a man's heart sorry for the race. If the finer things of life—the piceties, the refinements and the elegancies—are to be not only ignored but despised, what is the race coming to? Our short cuts of speech that were at first merely reprehensible have now assumed the proportions of positive abominations. We are actually being transformed into a short-cut people. And what could be worse than that?

If the appalling habit of calling Los Angeles what could be worse than that?

If the appalling habit of calling Los Angeles "Loe" were confined solely to hobos, scullions, illiterate and godless bartenders and every known species of the human jackaes, it might not matter. But you will now hear the sacrilege on the lips of young ladies recently graduated from the high schools and academies; railway conductors, com-mercial travelers, and—as the Lord lives—college schools and academies; railway conductors, commercial travelers, and—as the Lord lives—college professors, have been smitten with the plague. It has become as common to hear "Los" as it is to hear "Frisco" spoken. Alas, that we have lived to see the day!

Assuredly no time should be lost to nip this abomination in the bud. The situation is sufficiently serious to warrant any manner of radical action in the premises. The matter should be made a subject of daily discussion in the schools in order that at least our children may be saved from the disgrace that afflicts their ciders. Perhaps a law should be passed by the State Legislature making it a misdemeanor, punishable by fine and imprisonment, for any man or woman to desecrate the name of Los Angeles.

"Los!" Heaven forgive the tongue that so slights a great name. Anathems be on him who is guilty of it. May the ghosts of the pobladores, the conquistadores, the brown priests and all, haunt his slumbers by night and trip the steps of him by day. May the angels themselves pass him with unseeing eyes and folded wings:

I AND OF ALL DELIGHTS.

LAND OF ALL DELIGHTS.

What a sight the automobile procession through the streets of Los Angeles on Monday was!

The people of this city own more cars than those of any other in the State. In fact, about half the machines of the State are owned here, as shown the projection of Securetary Los Assesses. by the registration at Sacramento. Los Angeles has more autos per capita than any city in the world.

No need to ask why. The bright sunlight, the balmy airs, the charms of the landscape, the glint of the sea, the shadow of the mountains, the emer-aid carpet on the plain, the rich foliage of the orange orchards, the beautiful homes that stud the countryside, the pretty villages nestling under the hills, the church steeples that arise amid the orchards, explain why so many of our people own Here is the land of all delights. There is spiration in all that outdoor life brings to view. One wants to be in it and of it all day long. Indoor life is a restraint, a bore. It oppresses the spirit. The country is provocative of vagabonding. It must have been scenes and climate like this which gave birth to the gypsies.

The early days of February! Winter at its worst in other lands. Snow flying, streams frozen, the mercury at zero, cutdoor life actually dangerous to health, a menace to life. Tingling fingers, frozen cars, cold feet, a form shivering from head to foot. No wonder people hug base burners full of coal there, while here the call of the outdoor world is rresistible.

This contrast is what has made Los Angeles the This contrast is what has made Los Angeles the great city it is. This will make it a greater city in the future. We must encourage shows like these automobile exhibitions. The show cities of the world are all the time thinking up new attractions. Museums are multiplied. The streets are made wide and shaded with trees. Life is made pleasant. The opera and theaters are encouraged. Vast sums.

The opera and theaters are encouraged. Vast sums of money are spent on parks.

Here is the playground of America, and here we must have amusement for the people of leisure who come here. They come to be pleased and we must see that pleasures are provided. They are people of means who pay us visits from time to time. If they are to their liking they will come again. If they enjoy themselves they will induce their friends to come. They are willing to spend money, but they want the best of everything. We must gratify them. The pleasure is theirs; the profits are ours. They are willing to pay; we must "have the goods."

The old copy-book headline used to carry the legend, "Many men of many minds," and the old saw informs us that "it takes all kinds of people to make the world." K FFPING LENT.

Yes, and there are lots of curiosities always in the world to fill museums. It may be necessary to go to darkest Africa to bring home bongoes for the Smithsonian Institution. The archeological museums show us how the troglodytes, cave dwellers, lake dwellers and all sorts of sondescript people of old times lived.

We have curiosities in our own days, and they are often found in high places. Here we have a "right reverend father in God" hailing from Pittsburgh, where so many freaks have their habitat, telling the religious to deny themselves the reading of the daily newspapers during the Lenten season. Now there is one thing we will not dispute with His Right Reverence. It is easily conceded that the self-denial would be very great. But we do join issues with this distinguished prelate when we come to consider what would be gained by this peculiar kind of self-denial. Lent, if we understand orthodox theology aright, is appointed for the morculiar kind of self-denial. Lent, if we understand orthodox theology aright, is appointed for the mortification of the flesh, the starving of the animal man in order to subdue his evil passions. It is a poor economy indeed to starve the mind, whether it is Lent or Christmas time, fast or feast.

This preacher of foolishness (not of righteousness) would have the people believe that what they get in their intellectual rations through the daily papers is "scandals, and their masses of ill-assorted information." He would have them replace them mation." He would have them replace these with more edifying works."

Now, The Times is a great admirer of the cloth and an ardent encourager of clergymen and churches in all their legitimate functions and activ-ities. We recognize the inestimable influences of conservative teachers who make a point of considring their utterances in the pulpit and are sure of the ground they are standing upon before they ers are like all the rest of the human But preachers are like all the rest of the human family, of various degrees of wisdom and of various temperaments. Dr. Whitehead speaks of scandals and ill-digested masses of information. It is somewhat unfortunate that his own profession furnishes too many sad examples that fill the scandal columns of the newspapers. And, without offense to rational, thoughtful clergymen, it is not straining a point to say that there is at least as much ill-digested information heard from the pulpit as from the columns of the average newspaper.

from their eyes the record of current events. What will Dr. Whitehead have his people read? The account of the Mosaic cosmogony as found in the Pentateuch? Would he have them turn to ancient history and spend their Lenten hours on Herodotus, Josephus or Rollin? If the history of the past is edifying to mankind, why is not the history of the present? If the newspapers do publish undigested masses of information, their columns contain little that is as crude as Rollin's sneient history, fewer tables than may be found in Livy; and even Jofables than may be found in Livy; and even Jo-sephus and the father of history, Herodotus, are

By the way, it would be interesting to know if, this distinguished prelate ever read Herodotus. When that ancient historian tells something that is well fitted for the ears of the marines he always says, with a curl of his lip that you can see between the lines: "I got this from a priest in Egypt."

tween the lines: "I got this from a priest in Egypt."

The same newspaper and the sensible pulpit are allies. They are true yoke-fellows and work side by side "in the vineyard of the Lord" for the same purpose. If there is anything in human life more important than information, or any information more important than that of our own day, we have not yet learned just what it is. The daily paper informs the citizen what Congress is doing. It tells the banker of the ups and downs of stocks. It keeps the merchant calightened upon the markets of the world. It tells the philanthropist of what his fellows are doing the wide world over: If this preacher had only warned his flock to beware of the yellow journal published for the sake of exploiting a sensation without regard to its truth, to eschew the sheet that bears false witness against its neighbors for political or other purposes, we should have understood what he was aiming at and recognized that he was standing on firm ground. But the sweeping of the whole daily press from the households of all the religious people of the country for a period of forty days and forty nights would seem to be about as severe an affliction as the flood in Noah's day. We would have a flood of darkness to replace the flood of light now shed by the daily press throughout the homes of all the people of the land.

A conspicuous example of dishonest newspaper

A conspicuous example of dishonest newspaper reporting was seen in the crooked account of the Baptist ministers' conference in the tricky little Express of Monday evening. By distorting the facts the Express sought to make it appear that there was a great hue and cry against The Times there was a great hue and cry against The Times at this conference; that Rev. C. C. Pierce made an attack on The Times or assented to a construction of his remarks as such. And the unscrupulous Herald, with avid malice, repeated the fable the next morning, without inquiring into its troth or falsity. The opposition of The Times to the present municipal régime on political grounds is known of all men, and one person in the conference mentioned it. The Times has a note from Dr. Pierce in which he says that the idea of an attack on The Times by himself that the idea of an attack on The Times by himself that the idea of an attack on The Times by himself or any one at the conference is "absurd," and add-ing that he disclaims any attack on The Times "either in thought or word." The tricky Express and the reckless Herald consocted their whole mia-representation out of one casual remark to the ef-fect that The Times was criticising and attacking the present administration—a fact which The Times has no occasion to deny or apologize for. But these two dishonest newspapers, with no regard for what they owe their readers, twisted an episode of less than one minute's duration—as Dr. Pierce admits—into what purported to be the delibera-

DREMIUM ON COMPETENCY.

There never was a time when the demand for talent seasoned with experience was so great as it s right now. The activities of the world are manifold, their scope is immense. For every man who can work well with his hands there is a job waiting; but it is for the man with brains under his hat, guided by ripe wisdom, that the call is imper-

For the last twenty years the skilled mechan For the last twenty years the skilled mechanic has been at a premium, rather than the intellection worker. The iron foundry, the steel mill, the building trades have placed a high premium on great competency in all these mechanical arts or trades. The machinist could command a bigger salary than the bank clerk or the newspaper writer.

But a change is taking place. The skill in handierafts is acquired in less time, with less application, and with less intellectual power behind than in the functions which demand more particularly great brain power highly developed. The demand which has existed for handicraft skill during the last generation has drawn into that sphere of life ment have resulted in creating a minus quantity on that side of the equation.

Of course for ordinary occupations there is an overplus of persons seeking employment in the lower grades of intellectual occupations. The ma-chinist has a strongous life to lead. Mis hands chimist has a strenuous life to lead. His hands must become grimy and he must don overalls during working hours. The bank clerk need only remove his shirt cuffs during the hours of business. It is undoubtedly a temptation to the young man to stand by a desk where his hair is never towaled-nor a bit of snutt permitted to reach his face. We are not speaking of these ordinary occupations. Our thoughts are upon spheres where really considerable brain strength, thoroughly disciplined and under the guidance of ripe experience, is required. Here the pressure is immense for the right kind of men. With the demand naturally the salaries increase until such men are paid sums never thought of before.

men. With the demand naturally the salaries increase until such men are paid sums never thought of before.

The straits to which the industrial world is put for men of this caliber are illustrated by the policy recently adopted in certain great railroad systems of the country. They have a practical school for railroad men. We believe they call it a tryout course. This is under the direction of half a dozen of the heads of departments higher up in the management of the railroad. Any young man in the employ of the company may enter this school. He must be ready to go at a moment's notice anywhere the directors send him. They may take him out of a good berth in a city office and send him out into a remote country district to take complete charge of a station. There in ministure he has to encounter all the difficulties of railroading and perform on a small scale all its duties. If the test is satisfactory the young man is soon moved up to a higher position, and so he is shifted "from post to pillar" until he has been tried out in about every place in the business. If he has the caliber and the patience to stand the test, he is sure in the course of years to find himself landed in a post of great responsibility, with corresponding honor and also with corresponding emoluments. The person who devised this policy undoubtedly had a little streak of genius in him. It is a thing likely to be adopted by the railroading may be learned. learned. The railroad business is a science and the competent man who has misstered it is as wor-thy the title of professor as any who occupy the chairs in a university. Its complications are inexchairs in a university. Its complications are inextricable in other ways than by years of application to the business. No college simply pursuing a theoretical course can possibly accomplish this work. The ramifications are too numerous, but the real difficulty about acquiring this kind of skill in theoretical study is that the main qualification for a good railroad man is judgment, which can only be developed by actual experience in direct contact with the business of his position and in dealing directly with the general public.

Railroading is not the only line of industry in which this is true. It is as true in many other activities of business life. A young railroader going into this school at 20, by the time he is 30, if the "stuff is in him," is sure to reach a position vasily more to be desired than could be attained in going into business for himself with small capitar

An old black hen with vellow legs once "set" three months on wooden eggs; for three long months she held them down, till all the other heast in town were cackling o'er the famous jest; she wore the feathers off her breast, and saw her blooming youth depart, and broke her frond and foolfish heart, and shrunk till thinner than a match—and still the blamed eggs wouldn't hatch. Her owner said she was a fool, and dacked the poor thing in a pool, and then dismissed her from his dreams and turned to murse his little schemes. He got poor suckers to invest their cash in rainbows in the West; he sold a lot of polar ice; he cornered prames and raised the price; he reached for dollars everywhere, and for the truth he had no care; and honesty possessed no charm, and virtue was a false alarm. And now he's wearing prison stripes; and when the warden's whistle pipes he piles his task with shackled legs; his schemes were much like wooden eggs. Arthur Wards, business manager of Max Figman, yesterday, in behalf of Mr. Figman, presented to David M. Hartford of the Burbank Company the original script and prompt book of "The Substitute," the play Mr. Figman used last last season and which will be offered at the Burbank a few weeks hence. The book has written into it every bit of the "business" used by Mr. Figman is a martinet in such matters and is a freat believer in having things down in black and white. He and Hartford are old friends and consequently when he heard that "The Substitute" was to be played under Mr. Hartford's direction he sent him the scripts.

Sedley Brown, stage director with the Ferris and other organizations in the West, returned to Los Angeles yesterday for a brief rest after a year in the East. Mr. Brown has several pleces of city property here, and it is parity to look after these that he returned.

THE GAY LIFE OF THE CITY.

lain or that behind his fierce mustachio was a terribly peeved individual. At noon two acts of the Spanish love story had been completed, and the cilmax was appreaching. The plot was developing a somewhat heetic tinge, and at least two of the actors were at torrid temperature.

Add to this warmth a dish of carnecon chill, a hot tamale, and an enchilida, by way of lunch, and the conditions for grand opera are quite sufficiently florid. Carmencita and "Voice of Thunder" sat at a big 13-bic with the other members of the company, José, in a voice that caused panic among the waiters, fercely ordered his lunch set out at a separate table by the door. He called for fiery mescal to drink. Through the meal he sat in the shadow of the massive adobe doorway, while the Indian brave are to the same the gay seferita endeavored to show how little she cared that her other admirer was in a sulk.

Eefore the play was finished the Pagilacci situation broke upon the spectators. José and the big Indian disappeared from the patio, and were soon discovered in a duel behind the remeda. There was enough blood spilled to satisfy all the demands of the most sangularry grand opera audience. If there had been testile drums spilled to satisfy all the demands of the most sangularly grand opera audience. If there had been kettle drums to announce the landing of each blow no element of the best-staged scene would have been lacking.

It is an intense tragedy, this "I Pagliace." I understand there was quite a tragic scene when the valiant José and the victorious "Voice of Thunder" were "fired" by the manager. He didn't care so inuch about the introduction of a little realism, but he saw that neither one of them yould be able to make up for anything but a defented pugillat on the morning after.

morning after.

I met Herman Hauser and a party of the gay young bloods at the same place the other evening. They started in two automobiles from the city, expecting to be in time for dinner. One of the machines kept breaking down, and the eight of them finally arrived for a late supper, piled into the tonneau of the other. Hauser denied most emphatically the rumor that he was on the verge of being forced to the wait. Neither the meat strike nor the Jonathan Club beauty contest, he said, had forced him to anything like a condition of insolvency. The rumor, ot seems, was started because he has a number of outstanding debts which he has failed to pey, although collection has been pressed by the hungry creditors. When he was giving away pigs for votes he gave away more pigs than he could secure. Now he is short, even on May delivery. Among his creditors are W. J. Wheatley, C. J. Lehman, Lee Vouterscoth and half a down earm.

anticipated the sequel. It ended in Broadhurst's giving the partners a pass to the performance of "The Man of the Hour," and they will occupy a box tonight. When Broadhurst and Blackwood tried to engage as automobile for the return to the city, the chauffeur explained that he couldn't accommodate them as the "boss" had gone to the performance of "Are You a Mason." Broadhurst I understand, is now claiming title to the thirty-third degree.

"Square Deal"

For Women

It is often argued that women do not have an equal chance with men, because women suffer so much from pain and weakness. In a general sense, it is true that women bear more physical pain than men. However, the belief that women must suffer regularly, on account of ailments and weakness peculiar to their sex, has been successfully contradicted by the relief so many women have obtained by the use of Cardui, that great remedy for women.

Mrs. S. J. Kintner, of R. F. D. No. 2, Defiance, Ohio, tried

Before taking Card I couldn't be on my feet half an hour at a time, but now I co work all day. I sleep well and the pain in my right side and lo limbs is all gone. I am in better health than I have been for i years. I shall recommend Cardui to all my friends."

DON'T BATHE AT ALL

In certain inland European districts where water is seldom used for bathing purposes the people are always immune from skin affections. The best authorities now agree that soap and water are to be avoided in the treatment of skin diseases, particularly ecsema when present in the scalp or on the feet, as water is an irritant, and when not actually the cause of the disease, at least aggravates it. For this reason prescriptions put up in liquid or soap form, or containing grease or alcohol, have always failed. The new skin remedy, poslam, is a flesh-colored cintment, containing no grease. Under its directions soap and water are forbidden. It may be used on the tender akin of infants with soothing and beneficial effects, and in eczema cases stops the litching immediately, rapidly restoring the skin to lits normal condition.

Every druggist keeps both the 50c size (for minor troubles) and the $2 jar, and either of these may be obtained at The Owl Drug Co., as well as other reliable drug stores.

WIFE GETS DIVORCE.

Claire A. Hill secured an interlocutory decree of divorce in Judge Houser's court yesterday from Frank and.

W. Hill, the slegation of the wife being addicted to the "grumps," with the being addicted to the "grumps,"

"Unfortunately, I do," she replied, and she shot a glance at the fat and pudgy little defendant that made him squirm.

She testified that on January 14, 1909, Brown had fold her that Dr. Hammond had given him 1800 to invest in the stock of Missouri Pacific, the purchase to be made outright and not on a margin. This, in the opinion of the witness, was to get her and others to invest in stocks, the money to be handled by him. Miss Wiley afterward invested 100 in stock, but got nothing. The prosecution rested, after Dr. Nettle Hammond was recalled and testified that she had invested 200 in what Brown called a "special pool," but she never saw the color of the money afterward.

On behalf of the defense, A. E. Stratien of the broker's office of Wald & Lewis, San Francisco, said that Brown speculated in Missouri Pacific stocks, but he had no record of his irrnsactions. The court adjourned until this morning, then it is expected the witness will have some data on that point.

In addition, the fearless Frank told his wife that he loved another woman and would marry her just as soon as she (the witness) could get a legal separation. Judge Houser thought that about enough, and granted the decree.

Father Takes Charge of Four Little Ones When Wife and Mother is Sent to Prison on Complaint of Neighbors—Indulgent Friend Goes on Bond and Effects Release.

After the protesting neighbors had done everything in their power to put a soft pedal on the profanity, and had falled utterly, they swore out a warrant for the woman's arrest, as well as for the arrest of her negro maid, Rills Taylor.

The women were arrested and locked up in jail over night and arraigned David Marks, the husband, was sent for. He does a realty business in the Citisens' National Bank building. He offered to give bond for the appearance of the women, but this was denied by the court. He then stated that they would have to remain in jall until this morning, when their cases will be set for trial. He kissed his wife an affectionate farewell and she in turn kissed each of the youngsters who walled loudly at the separation and punctuated their walls by falling down every few noments.

Marks got one baby in his arms, and, with the three following, left the court, determined to raise the cash ball.
